In Memoriam

Betty Tina Knutson
Member of the Class of 1960

"She is part of all the loveliness which once she made more lovely."

To one whose companionship was an inspiration to us all and whose going left a poignant emptiness within our group, this 1960 edition of The Wolf is fondly dedicated.

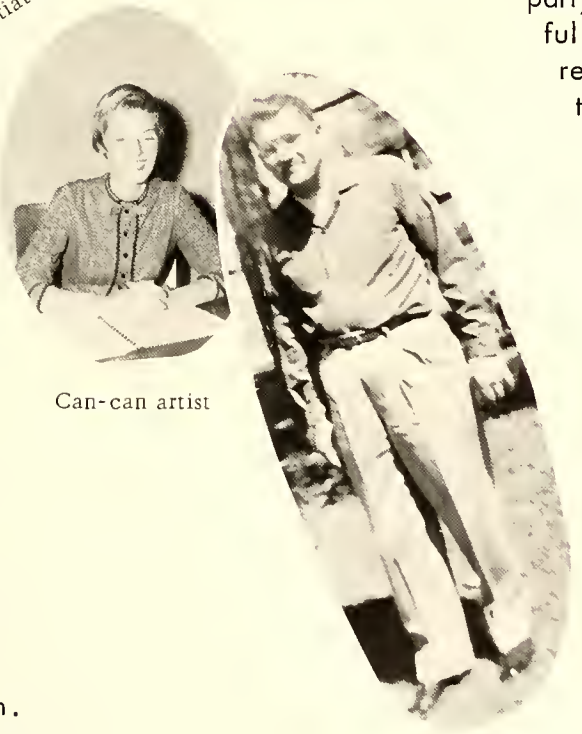
The beautiful new fifty star flag with bronze standard which graces our auditorium was presented to the school in memory of Betty by her parents, Mr. and Mrs. Milton Knutson. Presentation was made at the 1960 awards assembly.

Betty, with her exhilarating love of life, was a member of our class, often the center of activities, from the seventh grade until our sophomore year.

Year To Remember

Initiation Capers

The 1959-60 school year, highlighting twelve years of school for fifteen seniors, will be remembered for its joys, sorrows, excitement, and quieter moments. August 31, the earliest opening date in the school's history, brought an initial enrollment of eighty-four. Getting off to a swinging start at their initiation party, the freshmen won full recognition among the rest of the students with their joyous response.



Can-can artist

The entire student body warmly greeted the two cadet teachers, Miss Sue Williams from MSU, who taught English IV, U.S. history, and seventh and eighth grades, and Mr. Leonard Amundson who came from MSC and taught biology and math.

Attending the MIEA meeting in Missoula, Pat Barnard, Bev Hughes, Jonni Flanagan, and Nancy Waggoner, accompanied by Mr. and Mrs. Wm. Kennedy, gained much information for the yearbook, THE WOLF, and the school paper, the WOLF HOWL.

Off for a touchdown.

First place float

Homecoming Day dawned bright and beautiful. The juniors won first prize with their float entitled "We can CAN the Tigers!". The Geraldine Tigers were conquered 18-0 in the afternoon game. Marlene Reilly reigned as Homecoming Queen over that evening's dance.

Many students enjoyed a vacation on November 12 when their parents attended school for them. Many parents expressed how wonderful it was to feel young again!

Amo, amas, amat

Look good?

Girls, girls, girls!

Stanford High's Best

Remember those lovely figures and hair styles Dean Dubois, Ramon Takala, Gene Todd, and Don Carver displayed as cheerleaders for the girls' basketball team? The girls played several preliminary games and a game before the championship game at the district tournament. They hosted girls' teams from Hobson, Moccasin, Denton, and Geraldine at a Play Day at which they won the trophy by scoring 54 points.

Mrs. Daryl Tichenor, the school secretary, moved to Sidney in December and Mrs. Wm. Reilly replaced her. When the students returned to school after Christmas vacation, they found the two custodians, Mr. Pete Willey and Mr. Howard Brooks, had polished the floors and the faithful cooks, Mrs. Mamie Reed and Mrs. B. C. Schmitt, were serving the usual 130 meals a day.

Efficiency plus!

Hunger Fighters

Champion Rock Pickers

Men behind the scenes.

"Down with the dictator!" the seniors were crying after suffering a week under the dictatorship of Snick Nelson this spring. Each time the secret police (juniors) reported that the seniors were not living up to the principles of their regime, the seniors were assigned to hard labor --picking buckets of rocks off the football field.

The school board holds an important place in the functioning of our school. This year it was composed of Curtis Hughes, chairman; Ray Deegan, Paul Hammer, and Zane Murfitt, clerk.

The last month of school was a very busy one indeed. The seniors started the ball rolling the first week-end, May 6-8, when they went on their senior trip . . . the juniors spent many nights decorating for their prom . . . the boys participated in track meets . . . many attended Interscholastic . . . Loretta Hammer Night . . . Awards and Senior Assembly . . . Baccalaureate . . . Graduation . . . Picnics. The midnight oil burned as students crammed for final tests and then--May 27--report cards . . . the end of another school year.

Happy Moment

Surprised?

There is no aspiration or effort in the world of life or nature that is not directed toward some particular end. Work without a definite aim is energy utterly wasted.

Place your aim high, remembering that we can never reach past the point of our highest aim, but that success is the birthright of every human soul.

Do you have a goal?

Every individual should have goals in life to "live toward." As children we fill no purpose of our own choosing, only those of our parents. As growing young adults, we begin to shape the bases of our future goals. As mature young adults, seniors, we have begun to "build our goals", consciously or unconsciously.

When you graduate, you have reached a goal. One that was set for you by others. It is now time for you to set goals of your own. The goals which you start "living for" now will be those you will be "living with" the rest of your lives.

Make these goals worthy of your parents, your school, your community, and above all, yourselves.

Chorus

The band and chorus presented a very impressive pageant as their Christmas program this year. In April they went to the District Music Festival in Lewistown and both received a rating of three or good on their performance. Fred Cornell received a two or excellent on his clarinet solo. In the spring they presented the annual Spring Concert and also a concert in the park one evening.

Best F.H.A. booth at the Judith Basin County Fair was the highest honor of the chapter this year. Ten freshman girls joined. Home economics was not taught this year. Mrs. Robert Evans was Chapter Sponsor.

STUDENT COUNCIL

The classes of Stanford High chose these nine students to represent them in Student Council.

A new activity introduced in Stanford High this year was the Flag Twirlers under the direction of Mr. Carl Dix. They marched with the band during the Homecoming Parade and the Fair Day Parade. The girls twirled at Women's Club, at basketball games, and at the tournament.

FLAG TWIRLERS

The Paint and Powder Club was organized this year under the direction of Mrs. Loretta Hammer. On May 5 two one-act plays were presented entitled "Early Frost" and "A Debt to Pay." The judges picked "Early Frost" to be presented at Interscholastic at Missoula. The cast consisted of Andrea Knutson, Marilyn Deegan, Edna Dye, Judy Goyins, and Cheryl Creekmore.

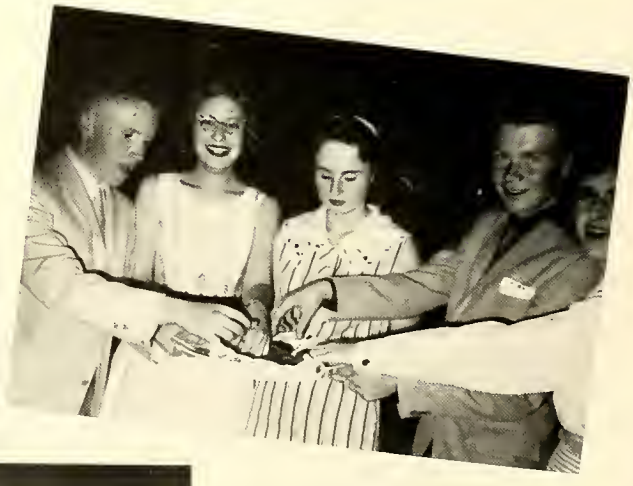
Loretta Hammer Night



In honor of her years of service and friendship, the students, friends, and alumni of SHS held Loretta Hammer Night May 23 in the high school auditorium. Carolyn Dusek was mistress of ceremonies. A play entitled "Life of the Party" was presented by a junior high cast. Mrs. Lyle Myllymaki, representing the alumni, played several piano solos.

Marg Nelson gave an original reading "Our Honored Guest" during which Mrs. Hammer was given some humorous gifts, a cutglass bowl, and a plate with an appropriate inscription on the back. She also received a beautiful purple orchid.

Following the program a reception was held in the multi-purpose room. Approximately 275 people attended.

Class History

It has been suggested by some of our best friends and severest critics that the matter of our history is ambiguous, if not misleading. They say it should have been written as it happened: the pupils discovering the school and exploring its various fields for four years before moving on to prospect in greater things. But we say it is our history and we made it to suit ourselves.

It was September 1948; Dan Deegan, Willard Webb, Galen Rich, and Dick Skarda passed through the doors of Stanford Grade School to go to school together for the next twelve years which ended with the graduation of the class of "60". As these four boys went to school, they picked up and lost several classmates. In the third grade Sandra Smail, Beverly Hughes, and Bill Waggoner were the only permanent new members; in the eighth grade Gary Peterson, Marlene Reilly, Laurel Lillegard, and Marie Chamberlain were added.

We remember being the big wheels of the school in the eighth grade. We thought that our junior high parties were the most and we especially recall the one given in our honor by the underclassmen. We thought we had seen the best day of our lives when we went to Great Falls on our annual field day.

As we were graduated from grade school we believed we had really accomplished a goal in our lives. When we went to high school the next fall however, we realized that we were at the bottom again and to have passed the eighth grade wasn't such a big achievement after all.

Our freshman class acquired Raymond Soulsby as a permanent member, making twelve of us who went through high school together. One event of our freshman year which we will never forget was the day the home economics class and the vocational agriculture class exchanged classes for the day. As the girls chased pigs, the boys baked goodies.

During our sophomore year we obtained Sharon Hofeldt and gained a little prestige as we were no longer on the bottom step of the ladder.

We assumed even a larger responsibility our third year selling concessions, having magazine sales, and being the first class to decorate the new gym for the Junior Prom. We trudged on until May 8 when we took the afternoon off for a private vacation which the teachers didn't appreciate.

As seniors, we realized that the annual, our graduation, sports, our real sneak day, and numerous other activities would keep our schedules full. During May we enjoyed a very pleasant trip to Flathead Lake. Because Joan Skelton was the only graduate from Geyser, she accompanied us. In the course of the year, we gained Forrest Struss and Norman Hunter to bring the total enrollment to fifteen.

If every person who ever was in the class had remained, this class would have graduated with thirty-five members. As sophomores our class was the largest with an enrollment of twenty-two. If anyone counted every teacher who taught us, he would find the number to be thirty-seven. This is our class history as we have made it.
